COCC Diversity Plan Goals, Learning Outcomes, Strategies, and Measurement Tools

Central Oregon Community College (COCC) believes that creating a respectful and inclusive multicultural environment requires the thoughtful and intentional efforts of everyone at the College, including all COCC employees and students. The Diversity Committee, along with the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI), serve as important resources to assist with implementing this plan and addressing concerns or questions that arise. As the College strives to foster a safe, inclusive, and just community, everyone will benefit. Therefore, the administration, department chairs and directors, committee and organizational leaders, and student leaders have special responsibility for ensuring that respect for diversity is embedded and practiced in the core activities of their units. As such, the following serves as the COCC Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Belonging (DEIB) plan.

Central Oregon Community Colleges strives to foster an environment grounded in equity, opportunity and access. Therefore, leadership, faculty and staff, as well as student leaders, have special responsibility to ensure that respect for diversity is embedded and practiced in the core activities of their departments, programs or disciplines. The Diversity Committee, along with the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI), serve as important resources to assist with implementing this plan and addressing concerns or questions that arise. As such, the following serves as the COCC Diversity, Equity and Inclusion plan.
