

College NOW

2018-2019 PARENT LETTER

Dear Parent or Guardian:

Your son or daughter is enrolled in a high school class in which he or she can earn college credit at Central Oregon Community College through the College Now program. Students can register and complete the course at their high school for a $25.00 per credit fee, but they are not required to register for or earn COCC credit. For more information, look at the Parents tab on the College Now website: www.cocc.edu/departments/college-now/parents.aspx

If you would like your son or daughter to take this course for college credit, have them return the Registration Form with cash, check, credit card or debit card information. Payment information is available on the Registration Form. The COCC College Now High School Liaison will collect the payment when she enrolls your son/daughter in the College Now course.

If you cannot pay the fee at the time of registration, call the College Now Office at 541.504.2930 to make payment arrangements. Your child should submit the registration form by the deadline.

If you have questions or concerns about the deadline for registration, contact Debbie Hagan, Director of College Now, at dhagan@cocc.edu or 541.504.2912.

ADVANTAGES TO THE STUDENT

- College Preparation: Helps students become familiar with some college processes, standards and expectations, providing a smoother transition from high school to college.
- College Transcript: Each class is entered on a COCC transcript to use toward a COCC degree, on a job application or for possible transfer to another college. Student should check with colleges as to what transfer credits they will accept and be sure any credits apply toward their future degree plan.
- Saves Money: At only $25.00 per credit, students save $74 per credit based on COCC's current tuition rate. The number of credits for each class varies.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES:

- The course syllabus is a contract between the student and the teacher explaining exactly what must be completed to pass the class, including course outcomes and requirements, class policies, assignments and assessments. Be sure to review the syllabus with your child.
- All college credits earned in high school count toward the Federal Financial Aid limits, so students need to be sure any credits they earn apply toward their future degree plans and will be accepted by the college they plan to attend.
- All college credits earned while in high school apply toward the 90-credit maximum for Oregon Promise, so students should be sure the classes apply toward their future degree plans.

- If the student does not pass the class, a poor College Now grade can have a lasting impact on his or her ability to get financial aid in the future. Students have the option to drop a College Now course by set deadlines if they are doing poorly in the class.
- If a student drops the college credits, he/she may still complete the requirements for high school credit. There is no refund if a student drops a College Now course.

For more information about Federal Financial Aid and Oregon Promise, go to COCC's Financial Aid web page at <https://www.cocc.edu/departments/financial-aid/default.aspx>.
