

Central Oregon Community College allows you to charge tuition, fees, and residence costs. In addition to these, other charges such as late fees, library fines, parking fines, aviation flight fees and other fees may accumulate on your account.

Answering "Yes" below authorizes COCC to use your federal funds to pay charges in excess of tuition, fees and residence costs. Some examples of additional charges are parking fines, late fees, aviation flight fees, and library fines.

I give Central Oregon Community College permission to use my federal funds to pay towards all charges on my account during the 2017-18 award year. (Check one box below)

Yes (A yes response allows you to charge and deduct additional allowable charges such as other fees, aviation flight fees, late fees and fines).

No (A no response will prohibit you from using financial aid to pay for other fees and fines). Tuition, fees and residence costs are automatically deducted.

I have read and understand the conditions associated with the option I have selected. I understand I have the right to change this authorization by completing a new Authorization Form and submitting it to the Financial Aid Office.
